- MediArch (Medical Archive) – September 2017 - Present

This would be my license (Work in progress).

It is an Web Application via C# ASP.Net Core; The database is an Oracle SQL Server.

The architectural pattern I am using is MVC (Model-View-Controller).

It should help the patients by saving all their consults and prescriptions into a database, making them available at any time.

As complexity, I will try to compete with the one from the next project (Course Manager), and I think I got some great chances.

- Course Manager – October 2017 - February 2018

A 6-man team project for one of our courses (Introduction in .NET ~ 2nd semester, 3rd year).

It is an Web Application via C# ASP.Net Core, and we were using MVC as architectural pattern. The database was an Oracle SQL Server.

We have used Trello for delegating tasks.

I and the most of the team were fully focused on Back-End part, choosing only 2 of our team mates to the Front-End part.

At the end of the semester there was a competition (hold by Centric IT Solutions Romania, Iasi), and our project obtained the 3rd place.

- FII Online Admission – 2017
